CONGRESS CLEANS SLATE OF

SPEAKER CLARK BREAKS TWO GAVELS IN GAINING ORDER.

READY TO LEGISLATE

BODY WILL START IMPORTANT BUSINESS TODAY.

Completion of This, the Third Session of Sixty-second Body Will Expire Ite Existence.

Washington, Dec. 2.-The senate and house settled down to work today for the high pressure session that is to end the Sixty-second congress. Speaker Champ Clark, wielding his emm of order with ever increasing force, succeeded in breaking two valnable gavels before he had brought the enthusiasts through an hour and minutes of business. The sessions in both houses served to complete preliminary work of organization and left congress ready for legislative business tomorrow.

The senate, depressed by the recent death of Vice President Sherman and Senators Heyburn and Rayner was in session only twenty-two minutes. Both houses adjourned as soon as the pre-liminaries of organization were con-cluded out of respect for members and officers who had died since the August adjournment.

Ready for Taft's Message.

President Taft's message will come to both houses tomorrow. The senate will meet at 11 o'clock, an hour before the customary time, so the mesmage may be read before proceedings are begun in the court of impeachment, which is to try Judge Robert week and that an effort will be made to get support from progressive and insurgent Republicans to bring about the election of Senator Gallinger.

The house will convene at noon to-morrow. Roll call in the two houses today showed sixty-six senators pres-ent out of a membership of ninety-three and 275 representatives out of a membership of 391. There are three vacancies in each branch.

The third session of the Sixty-sec-ond congress opened under circum-stances of unusual interest. It came together after a political upheaval of the old regime.

In the senate, Vice President Sherman has been removed by death from the presiding officer's chair, which will be filled temporarily by Senators Bacon of Georgia, and Gallinger of New Hampshire, alternating. stances of unusual interest. It came together after a political upheaval of far-reaching extent which will soon transfer all the executive and legislative branches of the federal government to Democratic control.

While the present session is merely the expiring stage of a congress soon to go out of existence and to be suppressed in political control and policy after March 4, yet today's session in the senate and house bring together for the first time since the recent overturning those leaders and circ ment of consequence of the simply declared the case and trace the suppressional stage while others, like ex-Speaker Cannon, will soon pass off the congressional stage while others, like Speaker Clark and Chairman Underwood, have had their tenures renewed and streagthened.

New Conditions Deminant.

As a whole, however, the dominant note as both branches of congress, assemble is that new conditions, new policies and new men have been ushered in as a result of the recent election and that about the only function of the present short seasion, lasting until March 4, is to pass annual supply bills and wind up what remains of the old regime.

Governor Colquitt's preference, ex-pressed tonight while he was seated in the living room of Superintendent Adams' house discussing the situation with representatives of The Waco News, the Waco Tribune and the Dallas News, is that the institution as at present constructed be continued as a reformatory solely for males be-tween the ages of 15 and 21 years who have been convicted of felony, for he considers these too young for impris-

Mr. Elliott is here to inspect the out-fitting of the institution. The gov-ernor announced tonight his intention of putting this school and reformatory under the jurisdiction of the state pur-chasing agent in the warding of an-nual contracts for food, furnishings and supplies, beginning with the next iscal year, September 1, 1913. This will do away with the superintendent's present necessity of contracting for the provisioning and common necessaries, outfitting of the buildings each month, and bids will be received for this institution in the same method employed for other state institutions. employed for other state institutions Mr. Elliott will leave schedules with the superintendent to be filled in and forwarded to Austin, on which estimates may be made by him on April 1 next, for the succeeding fiscal year. Gatesville merchants, who have during all the years of the life of this institution been receiving the monthly consupplies, hereafter must sub-o the state purchasing agent. Gatesville bidders of course may offer the best bids, Mr. Elliott remarked.

The governor, in discussing condi-tions in the place at present, said there is no doubt the maintenance fund is not adequate. He would recom-mend separate guards for negro and white prisoners, of course, as a part of the plan of segregation, and teach-ers for each class of inmates, juveniles and older boys. He will ask that ap-propriation be made adequate to pro-vide necessaries in sanitation, teaching, housing and training, along every is to continue both as reformatory and

Mr. Colquitt expressed much concern for the well being of the younger boys, and repeatedly emphasized the hardship wrought by the courts in sending to this institution children afflicted with disease and defects of sight and hearing; young boys who have committed not even a misdemeanor but are sent here to escape the influence of parents unfit for the responsibilities of parenthood, or unable for any other reason to take care of children. As a part of his condemnation of the failure of this institution to fulfill the purposes of its reorganization he commented on the fact that being thrown in company with older boys convicted of felony, who are really criminally inclined, practically destroys all chance for the younger had of proper training, reformation and successful teaching in the duties of citizenship.

Mr. Colquitt made it plain that he seriously handicapped by the opposition to and dissatisfaction with his orders shown by the guards and teachers who withdrew from the place Tuesday. Under such circumstances, Mr. Colquitt remarked, much might be explained and excused concerning the situation in the school. He said most of the guards had been in the place for many years, and their disagreement with plans pursued or contemplated by Captain Adams to improve conditions made it impossible to continue them in service even if they had not resigned, if the welfare of the institution was to be considered.

While admitting that the dark cell was far preferrable to the bat and the "tie up" as a form of punishment, the writer made the distinction that

No Meeting of the Board.

He does not intend to call a meeting of the board of trustees, and although D. R. Mr. Hall is the only local trustee and none of the others is in the city.

Washington, Dec. 2.—The constitutionality of the South Dakota antimonopoly or "unfair discrimination" act of 1967 was upheld today by the supreme court. The court makes it a crime to sell, with intent to ruin competition, a commodity in general use to a dealer in one place at a lower rate than to another dealer at a different place within the state. Similar laws have been enacted in several northwestern states and are regarded as among the most rigid anti-monopoly statutes ever enacted.

It also makes a clean sweep of hardware. The special articles named that might be listed as miscellaneous are specified because a different rate affects that one line, other than the general increase on all miscellaneous commodities. The same is true of hardware.

"Anyway, the new rate schedule will be disastrous to Texas jobbers and merchants." Mr. Dillard said yesterday, in discussing the intentions of the Mailory and Morgan lines.
"I am going to recommend to the members of the Waco Freight bureau that they favor the seaboard and Gulf steamship line, which is an independent company that operates between New York and Velasco. It has not announced any rate increase. Many Texans are interested financially in this company, and it seems about the best way to take advantage of the only leverage to control the big steamship lines."

leverage to control the big steamship lines."

A vast volume of freight is shipped from New York to Texas points. Until six years ago when the first independent company was organized, known as the Texas City Steamship company, the volume of freight was comparatively small, due to the advanced steamship freight rates. The indedent company handled dry goods and other commodities at $5 a ton, all of the rates being astonishingly low. The Mallory and Morgan lines were forced to cut rates. This took a vast amount of business away from St. Louiz, Kansas City, Cincinnati and Memphis jobbers. Gradually the volume of business handled by water became larger until it is today a mammoth volume.

The South Texas jobbers were placed in a position to get business away from St. Louis, Kansas City and Memphis in Oklahoma, Arkansas and the northern and western portions of this state.

Assistant Atterney General Declares Witness Declares Neither He Nor the Two Missouri Companies Are "Shadew" of Higher-Ups.

St. Louis, Dec. 2.—Charles G. Revelle, assistant attorney general of Missouri, arguing today before Special Commissioner Daniel Dillon in the suit to oust from the state the St. Louis Dressed Beef and Provision company and the Hammond Packing company, of which the two smaller concerns were a part, was inerely a "shadow" corporation and a cloak for the weekly meetings in Chicago of the Armour, Swift and Morris interests to fix prices and control trade. In the opening argument for the packers, Attorney Ralph Crews of Chicago declared the fact that fresh meat was extremely perishable.

The meat, he said, was chilled in a temperature of about 40 degrees Fahrenheit. It was not practicable he said, to carry stock in the branch houses of the packing concerns longer than a week, and therefore a certain supervision of receipts and shipments was necessary.

PISKE WRIGHT OF EAST SIDE IS A DINNER HOST Among the very pleasant reunions of Sunday was that of several former A. and M. boys who dined by invitation with Fiske Wright. One or two special friends were added, but the reminiscences of the old A. and M. days together with the reunion sentiment of old college mates was the atmosphere. Miss Bert Wright as hostess prepared a service of seven courses and placed as table decoration the college colors of red and white. The afternoon was well gone when this pleasant company dispersed. Those remembered by the host were Ed Watpika, James Crippen, Felix Alexander, Otis Burke, Harold Harrison, George Byars and Lewis McMahon.

TALENT OF WACO WOMEN

Within the past few weeks the writer has received evidence in a material form of the talent among Waco women. This lies in art, in music, in poetry, and in literary criticism. It has often occurred to the writer that our public library should reserve a shelf for our home talent writers. These editions, to be sure, will not take rank with the master minds in literature, but it will encourage the amateur to strengthen a God-given gift and it will interest those who happen to see what has been accomplished in our own midst. The writer has a half dozen or more recent home publications both in music and in book.

the little book by Mrs. Jean Sherwood, "Childhood in Art." While Mrs. Sherwood's connection with art and things "Childhood in Art." White Mrs. Sherwood's connection with art and things artistic has passed far beyond any locality, even from her own home, Chicago, all claim her. She is as well known in Waco, especially by the thousands of children, as are women of this city, perhaps better known. Therefore, anything which she does is a matter of local interest. By way of preface to her book, Mrs. Sherwood says, "No work of art appeals so universally to the human heart as does the picture of a child. It is a theme which never grows old, and if its expression is in the hands of a really great and sincere painter it becomes a joy for ever." Mrs. Sherwood continues to tell about the famous pictures of children as well as about the man who painted each picture. She gives a good photograph of each picture discussed so that the eye as well as the mind can grow familiar. The object in this charming little book is not stated. It is issued by the Altrua Art Library of Chicago. It is just like the generosity of Mrs. Sherwood to do this as the labor of love, letting some altruistic movement get the financial benefit. The children especially will love this book. In it they will find their beloved Madonna of the Chair and her chubby baby boy, the baby of every body's home, the Stuart Baby, little Miss Innocence of Joshua Reynolds, cute little Dorothy Drew of Burnebones, besides being introduced to many new boys and girls just as charming). No one knows better what to select for the children than does Mrs. Sherwood.

In Fort Worth during the recent convention of club women, there was presented the state president a booklet of Texas musical composers. This is for distribution. It gives the names of the composers of the state with something of the musical life of each. Waco is represented in Mrs. Fannie Curran Howells, whose original piano compositions are appreciated by her home friends. Still, beyond that circle, few know the ability which Mrs. Howells has in this direction. Several of her compositions are with the writer. And they are good compositions.

Mrs. E. M. Ward.

Twice have compositions come from Mrs. Emily Hayne Ward of Tenth and Jefferson street. Mrs. Ward is beyond the three score and ten years. Her life in the care of her motheriess little grandchildren is retired, but filled with her love of verse making. Two of her compositions have been given musical setting, the last being from a New York publisher under the title, "The refrain for each of the three verses is, There are bright things in ev'ry life And enough of sadness, too: unto the highest form of expression, the blank verse. This adds a knowledge of verse making to the impressionable mind of Miss Scarborough. It is repeated, her "Fugitive Verses" outranks any effort so far made by a Waco woman in the field of verse making.

Tis true, as in fact it always has been, that many returns are not prompt in making their appearance at the office of the grand secretary, and some fail altogether, which leads me some fail altogether, which leads me to suggest that some secretaries are such busy men that whatever they undertake is disposed of with neatness, accuracy and dispatch, as they haven't time to make erroneous reports which take a longer time to correct than they require in the making.

ng. Another class is "so very busy" (doing we know not what) that they al-ways inadvertently overlook either the making of the report or something which should have entered into it. House Managers Who Will Conduct Prosecution Starting Today Have Final Conference.

Washington, Dec. 2.-Judge Robert W. Archbald of the commerce court will take no personal part in the conduct of his case before the senate when that body reassembles as a court of impeachment tomorrow. Attorneys for Judge Archbald, whose impeach-ment was demanded by the house of representatives after an investigation into business relations alleged to be a violation of his judicial oath, stated today he would leave the presentation of his case entirely to his lawyers.

Managers for the house, who will conduct the prosecution, held a final meeting today for the perfection of their opening argument, which will be-gin at 12:30 tomorrow.

The unusual proceedings of impeachment are expected to lend interest to the sessions of the senate for the next two weeks.

Senator Bacon, now temporary pre-siding officer, will preside over the courtroom when it opens tomorrow, and probably will continue in that po-sition until the close of the case.

EVIDENCE IN WOMAN'S TRIAL

New Witness on Stand In Mrs. Orner's Case.

Pecos, Tex., Dec. 2.—The taking of evidence in the trial of Mrs. Agnes Orner, charged with the murder of her daughter, Lillie, was unexpectedly reopened by the court's order today, though arguments had begun Saturday. F. Van Horn was summoned from El Paso to testify about the statement of Mrs. Lucille Archer, who testified Mrs. Orner had asked over the body of her child: "Shall I confess?"

Today it developed that Saturday Mrs. Orner slipped Mrs. Archer a note reading: "If you tell any more they will hang me."

Protect Against Gemez.

Washington, Dec. 2.—Upon representation of William Young, chairman of the Cuban Central railroad, an English owned line, Ambassador Brice filed with the state department a protest against the granting of concessions by President Gomez to another line, which is proposed for the north coast of the island. It is claimed that the proposed road would diminish the value of the concession held by the Cuban Central which is protected by the treaty between the United Sentes and Cuba.

Close Steady With Net Loss of Near One Point-Corn Unckanged. Oats Advanced.

Pit absorption of the wheat delivery turned out to be more of a burdent than expected, notwithstanding that the total 2,100,000 bushels did not greatly exceed what had been predicted. Reselling for May kept the market unfit for more than a scanty reaction. Peace talk, impressed Argentine harvesting and better outlook for the winter crop in the United States all counted against the buils.

despite the child's struggles and has screams. Mrs. Sproles and the others were ordered to leave the courthouse and they finally did so, Mrs. Sproles weeping audibly and coplously. The child later was taken out and down sixth street, in order not to pass Mrs.

When Judge McCullough stated that he would have to enforce his order, he declared that the best people in the community had stated that Morrow was in every way capable of taking care of the child. He did not believe that it would be for the best interests of the children to be separated. He said it was possible that they would be sent to an orphanage, and he assured the child's relatives that if the little girl was not properly cared for and educated she would certainly be taken away from Mr. Morrow.

When the little girl reached the wagon yard where the Morrow team was waiting, she embraced her little brothers, climbed into the wagon and went out to their country home, apparently happy.

Weeping, wailing and gnashing of teeth, literally, were occasioned in the county courtroom yesterday afternoom when Judge Tom L. McCullough, enforcing a previous order of the court making R. M. Morrow legal guardian of the four Sams children, ordered that Mrs. Carl Sproles, a young aunt of the children, turn over to the custody of the guardian Julia Sams, a 12-year-oid-girl, whom she has been taking care of since the death of her sister several months ago.

Mrs. Sproles, with a sister and a neighbor, pursuant to the summons of the court, appeared at the court house shortly after dinner, after having refused at her home to turn the child over to the new guardian. Morrow's wife is also an aunt of the child over to the new guardian. Morrow's wife is also an aunt of the child to the guardian, Mrs. Sproles declares she did not believe Morrow capable of taking care of her and that she wanted the court to have the child over and over again the law in the case, but when Morrow endeavored to take the child, Mrs. Sproles leaned only Judge McCullough patiently went over and over again the law in the girl as the latter screamed, and only Judge McCullough patiently went over the matter with the woman.

Finally an officer took the little girl and turned her over to Morrow, despite the child's struggles and screams. Mrs. Sproles and the others were ordered to leave the courthouse.

It has been a long time since a mu-sical comedy of the general excellence of "Louisiana Lou" came to Waco. The play was seen at the Auditorium Theatre last evening. While it bears the Chicago stamp through and through, "Louisiana Lou" has features that are unique in musical comedydom. Withal it is one of those productions built for amusement—one of the kind built for amusement—one of the kind you're glad to have seen.

Happily, there is not too much plot to be obscured by the musical numbers that come thick and fast. A waif, Louisiana Lou, is found by Jacob Lidoffski, an old Hebrew, who places her with his friend, Roderick Konkarney. An engagement between Konkarney's son and Louisiana Lou is planned by

"Louisiana Lou" boasts one character that is new to the field of musical comedy. It is Lidoffski, the old Hebrew. Contrary to musical comedy practices, this is not a charicature, and credit must be given to Samuel Leibert, who is given the role, for not over-burlesqueing the part.

Miss Cecilia Novasio is well chosen for the dancing she is called on to do. The scream of the performance is Miss Anna Boyd as Jenny Wimp. A ballad, "My Rose of the Ghetto," sung by Mr. Liebert, is the favorite in the score. "If Love Be Madness," has a lilting refrain that is very pleasant. Both of Miss Boyd's efforts, "Now Abde Time" and "Puritan Prance" are worthy special mention.

A well staged number is "The Joy and the Glooms," sung by Louisiana Lou and chorus. This is adapted from Powers' cartoons in the Hearst "Louisiana Lou" opens during carnival time in New Orleans and the opportunity for color has not been overlooked. The curtain falls on the first act with the chorus brightly-garbed, colored paper flying into the audience—the whole a riot of carnival coloring. The second act opens with the moon shining on a Louisiana the session opened.

The motorman knows that this is the saddest accident in the whole list. A little child comes out suddenly from behind a tree or wagon and runs quickly across the track-after a ball perhaps. The child is busy -- intent upon its play. The motorman is straining every muscle in his body to stop the car! But it simply CANNOT be done in time. The reassembling of the house drew together a host of men. long prominently identified with Republican affaire in that body to whom the elections had brought political disaster. Among them were Nicholas Longworth of Ohio, John Daizell of Pennsylvania, Ebenezer J. Hill of Connecticut, and John A. Needham of California, all members of the powerful ways and means committee, and leaders in advocation and defense of Republican tariffs. The governor of South Carolina, with a party of friends, journeyed to Raleigh for a conference with the governor of North Carolina. The party was met several miles from town and escorted to the governor's mansion. Before the object of the visit was stated, they all sat down to a good dinner, and after many rounds of drinks had been served, the governor of South Carolina stated the object of his visit and demanded the fugitive's surrender. A stated the object of his visit and demanded the fugitive's surrender. A heated discussion followed in which the attorney general of South Carolina grew angry and, rising to his feet said. "Sir, you have refused my insistent demand and offended the dignity of my office and my state; unless you at once surrender the prisoner, I will return to my capital, call out the militia of the state, and, returning with my army, I will take the fugitive by force of arms. Governor, what do you say?"

The governor of North Carolina rose slowly to his feet. All eyes were turned on him, his answer awaited with breathless interest. Firmly, he beckoned to a servant, who stood some distance away. Slow about answering, again the governor of South Carolina demanded:

"What do you say?"

"I say, governor, that it's a long interest drinks."

"What do you say?"
"I say, governor, that it's a long time between drinks."
The reply restored good humor, the glasses were brought out again, and, if any one attempted to refer to the object of the visit, he was cut short by the remark that it was a long time between drinks. When the visiting governor was ready to go home, he was escorted to the state lin, the governors parted the best of friends, but the fugitive was never surrendered.

NOTICE.

new members went down before Democratic opponents.

The president's message is usually the most important business of the reassembling of congress. But as the first day is marked by so much hustle and confusion of returning senting and members, with their exchange of greetings, the delivery of the message to congress, and its formal reading to both houses, usually goes over to the second day. This will doubtless be the procedure this year, so that the receipt and reading of the message will go over until tomorrow.

Interest in Gibbons-McGoorty Bout New York, Dec. 2.—Boxing fans are attaching much interest to the ten-round contest at Madison Square Gar-den Wednesday night between Eddie McGoorty and Mike Gibbons. In the first place, the followers of the game are anxious to see how Gibbons' acknowledged cleverness will avail against a man of McGoorty's hard-hitting calibre. Moreover, the fight will go a long way towards settling the dispute over the middle-weight championship. Most of the critics agree that if the St. Paul boy is able to survive McGoorty's onslaughts during the

Many People Are Away From Hor at Holiday Time-Directions for Wrapping Packages.

Preparations are being made by the ocal express companies to handle vast amount of business during the Christmas season. According to the agents in charge, the rush usually begins about December 12 and continues until January 1. Extra men have been employed months ahead in order to be capable and all of the available cars have been fitted for service.

Traffic usually is congested about Christmas and it the express employes are consulted they win advise early shopping. It is pointed out that so many people are away from home on Christmas day and the days previous that it is dimicuit to deliver packages.

The postoffice department expects the usual increase in volume of mail. Postmaster W. H. Hoffmann of the local office has employed extra help and expects to handle mail promptly. The people can be of assistance to both the express companies and the postoffice department by using caution in wrapping articles. It is declared that packages wrapped in tissue paper and tied with baby ribbon are likely to be worse for the wear when they arrive at their destination.

Following are some of the "dos" and don't at their destination. Following are some of the "dos don'ts" given out as advice by the local companies;

"Use wooden boxes for glass or fragile articles. Pack contents in ex-steamer and sailing vessel in the fore-ground in the bay.
